We've dug into the archive and decided to bring you Bonzai Power Vinyl 1 on 2 x 7" records containing four classic cuts that put the hardcore rave sound on the map. DJ Bountyhunter's Demilitarized Zone first appeared on Power Vinyl and was an exclusive at the time. Featuring thumping beats and sweeping hoover sounds, the main melody and the vocals were inspired by the popular TV show, The Twilight Zone. Up next we will have the superb Reality from Phrenetic System aka Peter Schiettekatte and Frederico Santini. Hailed as one of the very best in our back catalogue, Reality hit hard and true, sending clubbers into a frenzy. A gentle melodic note opens the track before a robotic voice comes through. Powerful beats take over as gritty synths and basses rock the speakers. Karim Boux and Roel Reynders' project, Belgica Wave, gave us The Wave which caused quite a stir upon release. The track opens with a Gregorian style vox with a crowd ready for action. After a short prayer, the hoovers start and the track lifts off, catapulting us into the stratosphere

	Denis Kondraschenko emerges with his first solo release under brand new project Soultape. A well-known member of duo Adjustment Bureau (Morning People / Mayak / Haze), the Russian producer unveils a crisp and captivating 4 track Ep. Being a musician with many years of experience under his belt, he does not adhere to certain canons and musical forms, but rather constantly experiments with deeply hypnotic atmospheres and lucid soundscapes. This debut release as Soultape is a sure to make a huge impression both in his native Russia and across the world

TECHNO	Release: 19 - June - 2020	12" SWE

- A1 > fierceness Joyhauser
- B1 > grains Reset Robot
- B2 > dark fate Oscar L

If you want a snapshot of where techno stands in any given year, and a preview of where it's headed, look no further than Drumcode's A-Sides compilation. Since 2012 it has marked the label debuts of countless vital Drumcode artists and affiliates, from Layton Giordani, Wehbba and Boxia, to Amelie Lens and ANNA, no less. Every year, new names are unearthed, tried and true techno contributors serve up their best, and icons of the industry land their debut on Adam Beyer's storied label. The 2020 edition hits with 13 tracks, eight coming from label debutants. On part one, Belgium's Joyhauser featured at last year's Drumcode Festival paving the way for 'Fierceness', a beautiful melody-drenched cut befitting their DC cap. Alongside this, longtime Drumcode cohort Reset Robot dishes up a pounding arp-laden weapon, reinforcing his classy production nous. Finally closing out the EP, with three EPs in less than two years on Truesoul, Oscar L steps up to DC, showing the breadth of his sound palette with a soaring, synth-laden gem 'Dark Fate'

Every year, new names are unearthed, tried and true techno contributors serve up their best, and icons of the industry land their debut on Adam Beyer's storied label. The 2020 edition hits with 13 tracks, eight coming from label debutants. First up for part two, Victor Ruiz & Thomas Schumacher link and the result is 'Intuit', a sleek futuristic roller that hits you square between the eyes. Anfisa Letyago, a DC first-timer, then shows why she's one of the scene's most highly touted new artists with the brooding beast 'Are You In'. Rounding things off Loco & Jam power through with a brooding cut filled with sustained synths and cascading percussion

Having built up his self titled label alongside his sterling work as part of Oscillat, Lazare Hoche and Will & Ink, the one and only Malin Genie delivers his debut solo album. Moving beyond the pure club focus of his singles and EPs, the Genie has seized this opportunity to present a widescreen panorama of his sound, leading in with the subliminal ambience of "You" as a springboard to explore breaks, electro, techno, and especially IDM. There are so many ideas swirling round Anthropomorphic Sympathy, it's hard to know where to begin describing it. A true headphone commute for the deep listener to burrow into

After the highly acclaimed 'Positive Vibes' EP by Orlando Voorn, the Dutchman able to forge links with the Detroit originators thanks to his Midas touch, and abandoned the dancefloor-oriented vibes of 'Feel Good' - label head honcho Giuseppe Scarano's debut EP, including a powerful remix by Chi legend Paul Johnson - and of SoulVibe Inc.'s 'Inside To Outside', NICEPEOPLE drops a blissful brand new EP without compromise from veteran US deep house producer Vincent Floyd. After his releases in the mid-90's for Dance Mania, Relief and Gherkin Records offshoot Resound Records, it was only in 2014 that original Chicago deep house producer has enjoyed something of a career renaissance with the release of 'Moonlight Fantasy' on Rush Hour and, since then, he's been a man in highly demand. NICEPEOPLE is glad to welcome his understated but utterly engrossing deep house sound he's made his own since the early days. 'Music Therapy' opens up with the mesmerizing house haze of the eponymous track, testament to Floyd's impeccable composition and production skills, that drives us through wonderful dreamy sceneries

Frankfurt duo Transonic Flow fly at the speed of sound on this six-shooter for Dream Ticket, giving the label 3 for 3 in 2018. The furious salvos of 'Pk Jam', 'Elec Jit', 'Arp Attack' and 'KC's Intermission' come fully loaded with influences from classic Detroit jit and electro, while 'Frtry 2jun' and 'Hp Dub', with all their broken melancholy, sound like man-machine laments for the aftermath. Make electro, not war!

A1 > spookz	New label, Reposition are setting themselves at the vanguard of cutting-edge electronic music with their first release by Belgium's T-Scale. T-Scale, from Liege, started experimenting with audio editors and sequencers in his early teens. Active on his local scene since 1998, having been involved with several collectives and the now defunct Industrial-Bass Music band, Urban Toonz, he played alongside internationally acclaimed DJs and live acts like Murderbot, Ital Tek, Subjex, Exillon, Milanese, Boxcutter and Noize Creator. Now based in London, he is a member of the UK based collective and platform, Loose Lips, which launched in 2014, as he continues to push his sound forward. In his quest for physically impossible sonorities, he has spent the past 6 months developing a performance tool that gives him the ability to sculpt sounds on the go. At a recent gig in Macedonia, he played an incredible 'live pure data' set, using real-time graphical data flow programming to create all his own sounds. With this huge wealth of knowledge and a hard drive stacked with unreleased productions, his 'Spookz EP' is long overdue

A full and bold new chapter of 5 new AEX releases. What started off as a sublabel of Indigo Aera, during the last years has grown out into a fully-fledged 'imprint'. The recipe remains simple: 4 or 5 tracks from various artists pressed on a limited batch of vinyl. A straight forward track selection of machine-made music in the full range consisting of Dj-tool dancefloor anthems to experimental soundscapes and ambient works. A home for talented new producers, but also a place for more incognito sidesteps of established names." AEX011 welcomes back Tetelepta, Daniel Jacques and Selfsoul and welcomes Dutch dub techno connoiseur Roger Gerresen to their series. Tetelepta kicks off with a mesmerizing 8-minute floaty downtempo jam where Roger follows up, increasing the pace with a razor-sharp dub techno cut. On the flip, Daniel Jacques brings his emotive house once more topped off by Selfsoul with a fierce techno work-out. A tasteful appetizer for more heat to come in these exciting white label series from Amsterdam

2020 marks the tenth of collaboration for Red Axes, the Tel Aviv-based duo of Dori Sadovnik and Nir Arzi. Informed by post-punk, new wave, and a plethora of club sounds old and new, they have cleaved a singular path with their hefty discography. To celebrate their anniversary, they reunite with Dark Entries for an eponymous 11 track LP brimming with jagged guitars, spacy arpeggios, and hypnotic vocals. Although Sadovnik and Arzi have previously released LPs on I'm A Cliche and Garzen Records, Red Axes is their first effort written and conceived of as an album-length listening experience. This work flows effortlessly through a variety of stylistic detours, highlighting their ears as both keen listeners and skilled DJs. Opener 'They Game' is a grooving number that unifies the psychedelia of cosmic disco with the early 90s 'baggy' sound. The energy mounts further with "Shelera", a guitar-driven acidic banger, and "Sticks and Stones", a certifiable club hit fueled by sassy vocals courtesy of Adi Bronicki. Launching Side B is "Break the Limit", an EBM-laced number that wouldn't sound out of place on a Razormaid compilation. The following tracks wax moodier, with "Brotherhood (Of the Misunderstanding)" touching on darkwave territory. "Udibaby" and "Arpmán" close out the album with their respectively dense and sparse takes on kosmische lysergia

Ascetic Limited is proud to present its new vinyl catalog ASCETIC008LTD, this time with a very special set of artists hailing from Italy: Ruhig, Retina.it, PRG/M and all together as rSpi. For this particular occasion, our 5th VA is titled "La Fabbrica". On the A-side the opening track Conio is from the collective rSpi, a minimalist delivery of ominous yet light-hearted deep techno that takes a deep dive into their collective mastery. Next, Tornio by Ruhig is a deep yet hypnotic track with a very interesting pad that drives the track into a more percussive realm that encourages the listener into introspection. The B-side starts with Incudine, a masterful broken beat by the legendary outfit Retina.it. A track that takes you to complete immersion of sound; driving, dark yet hopeful and refined. Closing out the record PRG/M brings Morsa, a powerful approach to a deep techno bomb with unexpected moments of intensity that will for sure get the dance floor moving

The Attic Music label strives to keep us dancing in these difficult times with a new EP from red hot young Portuguese talent Norbak featuring a remix from the label's owner Fabrizio Lapiana. Over the last four years, Artur Moreira has quickly established his avant-garde techno sound on labels like Semantica, Soma, Warm Up Recordings and his own label, Hayes. Always exploring the deep and dark end of the spectrum, he has picked up props from the likes of Oscar Mulero and Dasha Rush while going on to establish his name around Europe with killer sets at places like Tresor in Berlin. The excellent 'Pledge I' opens up with a menacing groove that burrows late into an underground cavern. It sounds earthy and organic and the rock solid kick drums get you into a state of hypnosis while the scurrying synths add more details in which to get lost. 'Pledge II' is another masterfully heady and journeying track that layers up more rubbery, propulsive kick drums with fizzing, electrified synth sounds and pads that encircle you and get you into a state of trance

Afro Acid is a fun collage of 80s house samples and a homage to the originators of the genre. Amen goes deep and meditates over a distorted SH-101 about the initial intentions of spirituality. Arabische Nacht a collaboration with fellow 'Bauarbeiter der Liebe' Lutz Hartmann sports a catchy bassline, open chords and an irresistible hook

Techno paths where craft, not innovation, is the draw. The music on this 'Post Raw Era II' is relentless and has plenty of muscle. This 3-tracker EP kicks off with 'Flangerism', tremendously vigorous and highly danceable. The mountainous excursion continues with hardly any time to catch your breath with 'Seeds of Hope', a composition of punchy multi-layered drum work, catchy synth lines and cutting acid. Last but not least 'Always Wanting More' evoking long, dark tunnels as readily as mid-90s hardcore vocal sounds

A1 > facelift B1 > yellower B2 > lark	Banke returns to Token. The Danish producer debuted on the label in 2018 with Totem - an EP of detailed, low-slung productions that highlighted the artist's keen ear for moody, undulating sequences & slick production techniques. On his return, Banke ups the ante - increasing the tempo moderately and where previous work focused on inviting dance-floor hypnosis, Facelift makes classy peak time propulsion the order of the day. The work maintains many of the sonic motifs associated with the Dane's production: firm, buoyant low end drives the music, working neatly in tandem with reduced percussive accents and more exposed, crystalline sequences that lift the recordings and offer new, expressive tones to the producer's growing discography. In many ways lead track Facelift does what it says on the tin, and offers up the most intense experience on the EP. In equal parts as dense and moody as it is exhilarating and uplifting, the track is a fine example of how careful use of limited sonic components can generate extraordinarily affecting results in the right hands
