Jori Hulkkonen was born and raised in a small town named Kemi with a population of 20,000, in the north of Finland. Since the early 80s, his musical influences have been on the side of electronic music, quite eclectic style for a 10-year-old boy who grew up in this period still marked by the seal of the Cold War. At the end of the 1980s, Jori's passion for electronic music was reinforced when he discovered its most abstract and minimal part: techno from Detroit and House Music from Chicago. Excellent DJ, he played in the best clubs and festivals in Europe. Jori Hulkkonen is an artist well known and extremely respected in the Nordic countries for his pioneering status, with his love of music and his involvement in making it known. All tracks written & produced by Jori HULKONEN. Recorded at Tirointie, Alppila, Oulu in Finland between September 1995 and April 1996

Happiness was recorded from late 1988 to summer 1989, influenced by the band's immersion in the nascent UK Acid House scene. Originally a four-piece guitar/synth band, The Beloved MK1 parted ways late 1987 and founder members Jon Marsh and Steve Waddington were newly liberated by their electronic, machine-driven rhythm section. The perfect synchronicity of the Balearic stylings of the underground clubs and exposure to early Chicago House corresponded with a burst in songwriting and sonic adventure. The result: Happiness! Recorded mostly with producer Martyn Phillips (who subsequently worked with Erasure, Jesus Jones, & Londonbeat) the band created a hybrid of British electronic pop music, US club beats, euphoric mood and consistently optimistic and uplifting lyrics. 'Happiness' was certified Gold (100k sales) in the UK and made numerous Best of 1990 Top 10s across the UK music press, while they graced the covers of NME

	In summer 1958, Joao Gilberto, an unknown 28 year-old Brazilian guitarist and singer from Bahia/ made his recording debut as a singer with two songs "Chega de Saudade" and "Bim Bom". With a new rhythmic feeling, batida, and rich harmonies he laid the basis of the modern Brazilian samba, now known as Bossa Nova. Underpinned by his insouciantly swinging guitar, Joaos seductive, vibratoless vocals caressed both ear and soul in a mesmerizing, highly addictive combination, refreshing and modern. Chega de Saudade was a hit, launching Gilbertos career and the bossa nova craze. Soon, singers and guitarists were trying to imitate him and composers were all on a Desafinado (the second Gilbertos hit) and Chega de Saudade kick. The longawaited renewal of the Brazilian samba was now a fact. Antonio Carlos Jobim said, Gilberto appeared as a light, as a big star in the firmament, in the heavens. He became a focus, because he was pulling the guitar in one way and singing the other way, which created a third thing that was profound. Yes, the guy who brought the Bossa Nova beat to the world was Joao Gilberto

NIGHTFLIGHT	MYSTIC FUTURE / HUGHES GIBOULAY - COSMIC RAY EVENT (AUBREY RMX)	12.20 € 11.10 €
NFR03		12"
HOUSE / CHICAGO	Release: 30 - July - 2020	BEL

A1 > physical chemistry Mystic Future
A2 > physical chemistry Mystic Future (Aubrey rmx)
B1 > soirée (a night in marseille) Hughes Giboulay
B2 > distant memory Mystic Future

The third wax on Nightflight Records holds tracks from Mystic Future (Yannick Robyns & Charlie Levan, Housewax, Subwax) and Hughes Giboulay (Soirée Records). Aubrey (Metroplex, Ostgut Ton, Feroc, Solid Groove Records...) took the honours to do a remix the only way he can do it. Mystic Future's "Physical Chemistry" is a spacey, breaky, housey tune taking you to higher atmospheres with the trippy, deep pads. Aubrey's remix takes it to another level without losing touch with the original. This results in an abstract hi-tech funk dancefloor track. Hughes Giboulay's "Soirée (a night in Marseille)" kicks of with a jacking 4/4 beat, wobbling baseline and melodic, funky stabs that makes you wanna dance. The fourth track "Distant Memory" by Mystic Future is a dreamy, techy and spacey house track with a rolling bassline and perfect for warming-up and after hours sets

After its latest broken beat and deep jazzy split release Nómada White Pt IV, Nómada Records is ready to embark to a deeper and clubby journey with HOMES by Icelandic producer Oli Bredifjord a.k.a ILO; who has released music on well known labels such as Rebirth, Lagaffe Tales, True Romance and among others.. ILO is well known for his hypnotic deep long tracks combined with raw drums patterns, powerful deep basslines, gorgeous and subtle filters, rare and catchy sampling techniques, by playing and messing around with the dynamics of each instrument and adding music tension arrangements to put you in a trance and frenetic situation. And of course this release with Nómada Records is not the exception. Homes is a four tracker Ep where all the tracks were written and produced by ILO back in the day in different times and places

A1 > flawsome
A2 > jackfruit
B1 > toxic masculinity must die
B2 > i see you, mara

Up next on Sundries, SNDRS004, Flawsome by G. Markus, a funky and soulful disco inspired release with music for all occasions. Kicking things off is the titular track Flawsome, a groovy, stomping, disco-house better with an unforgettable bassline, dreamy synth strings, and a vocal hook that's hard to resist! Next up is Jackfruit, a slightly more chilled out and soulful number featuring luscious keys and a silky-smooth bassline. Perfect for warming up the crowd or winding down at the after party. Turning over onto the B side is Toxic Masculinity Must Die: a super funky and freaky disco infused joyride of a track. With an emphatic disco beat, this one is sure to get the party moving! Finally, we have I See You, Mara, a sumptuous blend of old and new, with disco rhythms and bass riffs seamlessly integrated with synth arpeggios and house organ melodies. The perfect way to end any disco-house set

GATED	DATAWAVE & SOUND SYNTHESIS - VERSUS	16.90 €
GTD008		15.38 €
ELECTRO / BREAKS	Release: 30 - July - 2020	12" CAN

A1 > pulsar "Datawave"
A2 > breach out "Datawave"
B1 > lost in orbit "Sound Synthesis"
B2 > mh system "Sound Synthesis"

It's Belgium vs. Malta for the second split EP on Gated, with Datawave's tough take on electro kicking off on the A side and Sound Synthesis's cosmic machine music on the B. Both producers are currently making waves with numerous releases on labels like Fundamental and Nebulae, with their complementary yet distinct styles of electro gathered together for the first time. Perhaps the most obviously peaktime track, Datawave's Pulsar sounds immense, with a wriggling bassline and cracking drums that'll cut through on a system. Breach Out takes things darker and deeper, with gnarly and hypnotic synths leading you on some tripped out journey into a dystopic future. Sound Synthesis, meanwhile, lightens the mood with Lost in Orbit, but retains that sense of moving into the future. Except this time it's somewhere beyond the stars. That said, EP-closer MH System is the kind of classic 4am stomper every DJ needs, with a low-slung bassline and spaced-out samples guaranteed to keep the floor moving

A1 > i love you more (new vocal edit) Mr. K edit
B1 > i love you more (original. instrumental) Mr. K edit

Mr. K and MEU are back with a definitive issue of one of the greatest '80s R&B cuts, René and Angela's majestic "I Love You More." Despite residing in the upper echelon of Billboard's R&B charts for the entire summer of 1981, twelve-inch copies of "I Love You More" have always been tricky to track down, a promo-only item that meant hearing the extended mix was a rare treat. Back in the early '80s, one place you could reliably enjoy it was when Danny Krivit was playing for the skaters at The Roxy in downtown Manhattan. "Not too fast, not too slow," describes the perfect skating tempo, and "I Love You More" fits the bill to a tee. With this new release, Danny Krivit has revisited an earlier edit of the song and turned in two brand new, epic reworkings, the first time his vocal mix has ever been available. Laced throughout with artfully matched additional instrumentation, from the reverb drenched solo piano that opens and closes the song, to the spacey synth improvisations that ripple throughout (both courtesy AK), to the touches of just right extra percussion, nothing is heavy-handed or overdone

Cuartero Concept is moving forward firmly with its third reference signed by label boss himself plus the Argentinian beatmaker Bodeler. They are the responsible of 'Lamine', an ambitious three track EP where limits of groove are in a constant challenge. Opener 'Lamine' shows the capabilities of such a powerful combo offering a slick house production. The female vocal shout drives listener while the sci-fi percussion set a dynamic vibe and a personal touch. Next up, 'Comba' and its danceable bouncing bassline moves your feet since the very first beats of the track. The rattling hats adds an infectious extra rhythm offering a danceable an actual beat that goes extremely well with the early Chicago days house sound. Following the old-school vibes but now focusing on drums, 'Macra' closes brilliantly this work. With a broken beat and a cleverly used background the track has as target every dancefloor. An indistinguishable vocal its added to give an unique touch becoming this track a weapon

Up first in the A1 spot is In 'Stars We Trust' by Gossan, an elegant progressive house number with a gorgeous aquatic build up which releases into a swell of subtly crafted drums, a warm and rumbling bass line and luxurious pads and synth refrains. The perfect opening track for a momentous debut release. At the A2 spot is 'Solnce Zvuk' by Pad Union. A testament to the diversity of this EP, 'Solnce Zvuk' is a stylistically unique track which gives a sizable nod to 90s trip-hop and broken beat. With a groovy, syncopated break beat, a deep and potent sub bass line, not to mention an army of funky samples, 'Solnce Zvuk' will get any dancefloor moving! Up first on the B side is 'Podsnezhniq' by Pad Union, a clever and interesting blend of break beat and 4/4 rhythms. Awash with melancholic pads, subtle synth riffs and an assortment of ethereal vocals all set to a driving bass line, 'Podsnezhniq' is a worthy contender on this formidable EP

A1 > i no haz brain B1 > fat alberts funeral	In the early 2000's, the Riverview mental hospital was closed down by the Government and the streets of Vancouver were filled with all that housed them. One of these was a villain known only as Mr_Barcode, he was deemed mentally unfit to stand trial for his crimes and was incarcerated. In the mid 90's Mr_Barcode began a shadow mission to convert drum machines and standard MIDI hardware gear to use his patented sonic mind control chip. He had created what was known as "Module 1" and was thwarted by CSIS and captured. Once he was let loose Mr_Barcode began his experiment again, this time he found sympathizers in his cause- to brain wash the masses and for the machine to take over. Various labels enabled his mission, and thus gave way to the mind manipulation we see today on mankind's technology dependant lifestyle. Believing his mission complete, Mr_Barcode interfaced with the machine by French kissing a plug socket in 2006, never to be seen until now. These demos were sent, this time to bring anarchy, we love anarchy, bring on the Witching Hour

<ul style="list-style-type: none"> A1 > brazilian dorian dream A2 > facing east A3 > jungle cat A4 > that's what she says B1 > slaughter on tenth avenue B2 > who needs it B3 > brazilian no. 1 	Legally blind from birth, Brazilian keyboard player, composer and bandleader Manfredo Fest learnt to read music in braille and began studying classical music at a young age. By 17 he had fallen in love with jazz (particularly the music of fellow blind pianist George Shearing) before becoming swept up in Rio's emergent bossa nova movement in the sixties. Moving to the States in 1967 where he would go on to work with fellow countryman Sergio Mendes, Fest recorded and self-released Brazilian Dorian Dream in 1976, enlisting Thomas Kini (bass), Alejo Poveda (drums, percussion) and Roberta Davis (vocals). Like a turbo-powered, intergalactic elevator ride, Brazilian Dorian Dream builds on the principle of the modal diatonic scales of the Dorian mode, with influences of Brazilian rhythms, North American jazz and funk, and music of the European baroque and romantic era. The coming together of these intergenerational and intercontinental styles coupled with Fest's visionary use of the Fender Rhodes, Clavinet, Arp and Moog synthesizers (plus a whole load of effects units), makes for an album light years ahead of its time

The 5 individual 12" will be released through 2018/19. Thomas Brinkmann is one of the great producers of Techno music and modern dance music. He initially gained notoriety in the experimental electronic music and Techno community for his full-length 'variations' of material by Wolfgang Voigt under his Mike Ink moniker, and Richie Hawtin. The variations were made by playback of the original artist records on a turntable of Brinkmann's design, which has two tone arms with separate outputs for left and right channels. The turntables were then pitched down from 33rpm to 27rpm and the results recorded and mixed. Both Voigt and Hawtin were sufficiently impressed they released the results on their own labels. Since then Thomas Brinkmann has produced some all-time classic dance tracks, many of which are collected here in what is a personal selection by Thomas Brinkmann himself. There are unreleased tracks, different versions, and tracks that have never been released on vinyl!

A1 > riot surfers A2 > realms of consciousness B1 > the side effects of ambitions B2 > flashblind	Italian dark electronics aficionados Alessandro Adriani and Cosimo Damiano come together for a debut collaborative EP on Pinkman. Belonging to different generations but both deeply influenced on one side by "the Sound of Rome", with pioneers like Gabriele Rizzo, Leo Anibaldi and Lory D, and on the other side by the raw electro Dutch legacy of Bunker Records, the two strike a golden middle of their styles with a clanging, raw and packed to the brim with coarseness electro-techno hybrid. Inspired by the cyber dystopia narratives, 'Neurodreamers' reflect on the hi-tech surveillance and the promise of AI which unfolds itself into the prospect of dehumanization. Taking the listener through turmoil and anger, the brutish 4-tracker weave the elements of grubby baselines, coarse synths and erratic percussions with the brain-melting hints of acid and Alessandro Adriani's own recorded vocals. A living warning to us all

Studies / Studien / Etudes' is a collection of pieces on synth by Rotterdam-based artist Joost M. de Jong jr., inspired by the first wave of Krautrock, Wendy Carlos and straight-to-VHS soundtracks. His music is both abstract and melodic, playful and austere, highly experimental and endlessly replayable... Big tip if you're into Oneohtrix Point Never, Lorenzo Senni and Legowell's ambient work

In a world full of rhythm, our inner callings rise. From the deep depths of our roots we chant and we pray. They keep on talking beneath the visions of hazy days twinkled with silver linings and mahogany dreams. The shaman trickles his way into your soul. The almighty seeker mystifies our kingdom. We have gathered to dance. We are together now. Let's explore the nature of Tumi, forever

A1 > the fundamentalist
B1 > another story

Tempo Records present SPEED, a new Tempo Records sublabel & project released on a limited collectors handnumbered 180gram coloured picture disc vinyl with original & legendary producers who helped shaping the Drum & Bass scene. This second release on Tempo Records' legends Picture Disc series: SPEED is by the Bristolian living legendary Jungle originator, inspirator and experimentalist: DJ KRUST. In DJ Krust's own words: "It became time to push again. Sitting in a dark room looking at my wall of power, a lifetime spent traveling the world was reimagined in front of me. Where had i been? Making art had become a journey inward towards or to somewhere unknown un-lived. Here i was looking for a new opening when out of the blue and blackness i could feel it. I stopped looking for inspiration so digging in the metal creates had its own angle, over time the roots of this adventure will be heard in a new way. That's when i noticed it, like a bright, out of the space mix between thought and the unknown. It was clear now what was happening a Fundamentalist with Another Story"

A year has passed since Cyan85 first graced the VOITAX catalogue with his successful summer debut EP - "Bay Of Sampier". His dreamy pads, avant-garde take on retro arpeggios and slamming 808 beats have been continuously conquering our ears ever since, making him a young talent to watch within the electro circuit. He now returns to the imprint with his very first album - "Lucid Intervals", demonstrating his knack for crafting ambitious pieces to establish himself as a respected producer. The LP aims to explore a variety of dystopian atmospheres and energies throughout nine infectious and carefully crafted tracks that build on electro's rich heritage without failing to infuse it with Cyan85's very own remarkable, dreamy electronic signature

A1 > photo injector B1 > niobium resonators C1 > graviton C2 > myon-neutrino D1 > z-boson D2 > higgs-mechanism	One of the rare outings of Dopplereffekt, the beautiful abstract and hypnotizing "Linear Accelerator" album is getting a proper double vinyl treatment on WeMe records after the initial cd only release on Gigolo in 2003. Linear Accelerator is a continuation of Der Zyklus's Biometry album with its abstract hypnotizing soundscapes and its controlled sterile atmosphere. Tracks like the slowly unfolding 21 minute long "Photo Injector" are unique and all the 6 tracks all are stunning beauties with Myon-Neutrino bridging the gap between the old Dopplereffekt works and the further evolved outings on this album that guarantee a long and tranquilizing trip. Inspired by the high energy particle physics being explored at DESY, Dopplereffekt appear to be similarly pulling the very fabric of their sounds apart and thinking on a subatomic level. 17 years after its initial release this is still avant garde and one of those few releases that captured the true meaning of techno! Groundbreaking, Astounding, Alienating, but always with a soul!

 Full Colour Sleeve  Released in 2012, the first ASC & Sam KDC collaborative LP - Decayed Society was part of the beginning of a stretching of each artists musical output. ASC had just released his debut Ambient LP for Canadian label Silent Season to a warm reception, and Sam KDC had commenced his ambient music journey on Auxiliary in 2011 with Marine Light and Symbol 3 so the stage was set. To say it went well would be an understatement. 8 years later, after a large amount of CD's sold and a recent vinyl press that quickly sold out the pair have reconvened and created a follow up. Somewhat warmer than Decayed Society in subject matter and feel, A Restless Mind explores the depths of melancholy, providing a soundtrack to the minds transient drift. With their differing styles complimenting each other aptly, there is a sense of temperance from both that enables the hovering clouds of ambience and defining elements each has created to melt into each other and build a mesmerising motif that binds the entirety of the LP. A Restless Mind is a soundtrack for contemplation and introspection, something we could all do with in 2020

A1 > lonely A2 > flawless A3 > evil A4 > frost B1 > timeless B2 > light B3 > war B4 > love	>Private.< is the debut album from Rebekka & Fox, a collaborative project by the singer and songwriter Rebekka Brunow and DJ and producer Hannu Nieminen. The finished record is a balanced affair between modern electronic club sounds and ethereal wistful pop. Hannus visions meet Rebekkas melodies and lyrics in an effortlessly natural way. Despite the multitude of ideas, influences and genres, the result is solid and intriguing. The production techniques are refined, but they never suppress the unfiltered raw emotion. >Private.< is a moving album in all senses of the word
