This time you get a really diverse 4-tracker, with tunes from 2 legendary producers Jurek Przewdziecki (Poland) and July B (Romania), as well as 2 tracks from label's founders, Schrill and Gogan. Side A is definitely more house-oriented, whereas side B sounds more like a deep insight into minimal trends, but always with a forward-thinking approach, where old meets new and experience of producers goes well with what is currently fresh in minimal/house vibes. To cut it short, a record not to be overlooked!

SEEDS60		LP
METAL / BLACK	Release: 31 - March - 2022	ESP

Third Nail is the solo project of Balic (Balmog, Marthyrium, Apologoethia or Avlivad among others) in order to bring forth his vision of pure, obscure and mighty Black Metal. As Balic himself states "Third Nail is not just a solo side project, but a real presence which will take form, with claws, fangs and nerves. Third Nail will be an expression of how I believe pure Black Metal should be> aggressive, mystic, primitive, but above it all, dangerous and real". The edition of "Theos-Haimaton" includes the already sold out Third Nail's debut demo "Shepherd of Wolves" as bonus to make it a full lenght release

Estás ante su debut discográfico, el LP 'Hocus Pocus', o que hubiera resultado si la Velvet Underground hubiesen visto la luz en Vigo, en lugar de hacerlo en New York. Canciones plenas de adicciones, destilando peligrosidad e imágenes oníricas, en un mundo repleto de personajes alternativos de otros tiempos (o quizá también de ahora). Heroínas son sospechosas habituales de la escena viguesa. Linda Lamarr (Pussycats, Tumbitas, Duques de Monterrey, Ex-Mums), Coral (Aerolíneas Federales), Indy Tumbita (Thee Tumbitas, Joao Tomba, The Voodoo Bandits) y Beatrice integran este super combo infeccioso

PUNK / ROCK / GARAGE	Release: 12 - April - 2022	ESP

Garage-punk-rock girls will make your head slam and your feet shake. And then there's the music. THE DARTS formed in 2016 with the goal of making great all-girl garage-rock noise, see the world, and have a fab slumber party every night. We threw on some vintage black slips, threw off our shoes, and set out on the ad-venture. 'Love Tsunami' is their new 7" with 3 tracks of pure exciting garage-punk. Cramps' spooky punk and Stooges raw chaos, by a quartet of garage goddesses, said Jello Biafra

Lumpem banda de Hard Rock / Heavy Psych formada en Avila a principios de 2020. Sub es su primer trabajo discográfico, contiene cuatro enérgicos temas de Rock Duro con esencia setentera, pero el protagonismo de efectos de fuzz nos traslada a sonidos más actuales. Sin duda, su propuesta es honesta y original, basada en la energía de sus canciones y la crítica poética de sus letras, reivindicando de esta forma una época donde el Rock era sinónimo de contracultura

It seems like an age since Icelandic producer Adalsteinn Guðmundsson's last album as Yagya, 2020's "Old Dreams and Memories." The first album to be released on his own label Small Plastic Animals it was followed by the four-track "Always Maybe Tomorrow" EP in 2021. "Faded Photographs" is his ninth studio album, the most involved and time-consuming project to date and collaborative on a scale not seen since 2012's "The Inescapable Decay of My Heart." It also marks an exceptionally confident return to the art of song-writing, but where that earlier album was a more upbeat dub techno-pop affair, "Faded Photographs" is nostalgic, wistful, reflective and steeped in poetic romanticism. Guðmundsson's love of the art of the album is also more pronounced here than ever before, almost every single track tied together by the particularly unifying use of triplet rhythms in combination with 4/4 beats, beguiling hushed vocals and enveloping, molten dub bass tones. Combined with a typical dedication to sound design and production, "Faded Photographs" is rendered an utterly seamless experience, demanding to be heard as a whole. Written and produced when we had become more distant and disconnected from one another than ever before, "Faded Photographs" brings together and showcases an ensemble of artists in a spirit of collaboration that flies in the face of adversity, a true product of its time

Nice and clear if you know what to expect based on the cover art, especially if that is also fulfilled. We take a look at Say Hello!, the debut full-length album from Spanish rock 'n' roll outfit Los Torontos. When we listen to the twelve songs featured here, we hear music as it emerged in the late 50's & early 60's, with frat rock and rhythm & blues influences. The band of Javier R. Cortés (Los Locos Del Oeste) and Spencer Evoy (MFC Chicken) masters the style to perfection, but the songs are also very delightful. So tonight we're going to party like its 1959!

A1 > intro	As rookies in the thriving brussels scene, jazz fusion quartet L?p?GangGang have been making waves the last couple of years. After the EPs 'Stalingrad' and 'Urban Detox', they are now releasing their debut album 'Dopamine Overdose' on March 17 via Sdban Ultra. Lyrically the inspiration for the album comes from growing up in a digital world and the constant dopamine we all have to deal with because of that.
A2 > dada data	Musically their sound is rich, diverse and hard to pin down, looking at Yussef Dayes, BADBADNOTGOOD and even Black Country, New Road for inspiration. L?p?GangGang started out as a jazz/funk cover band in 2017. Anton, Miel, Lena and Rob all met at a jam session summer camp while still in school. Over time, the band started writing their own songs and released two EPs to critical acclaim. Due to the band's desire for creative expansion over genres, they have been able to perform on various Belgian stages for the past three years including Ancienne Belgique to Flagey, Gent Jazz and Handelsbeurs in support of label mates, Black Flower. The album title 'Dopamine Overdose' is a quote from the track 'Dada Data', a track about the influence social media tends to have on our lives. The album's recurring theme is definitely the struggle with today's hyper virtual society and the overwhelming influence tech is having on society. With unbridled enthusiasm the band tackle relevant themes and combine striking observations with a highly contagious and very diverse sound. From "Out the Light", a smooth track about being stuck in the image we all try to create of ourselves, to "Wanderer", a jazzy tune about the road to self-acceptance, and from "Candy", combining a punk attitude with infectious hand claps, to "Time Faded", about the difficulty of finishing your artistic work, L?p?GangGang constantly showcase their genre-defying versatility. As a whole, the album is a very balanced collection of tracks, ranging from brooding atmospheres to punky explosions with a constant drive, social criticism and an indomitable energy binding it all together. A promising debut, indeed.

With a title like Blood Guts & Pussy, an album cover which features three nude models drenched in animal blood, and song titles like 'Let's Fuck', 'Fuck You Up and Get High', 'Motherfucker', and 'Fuckhead', the Dwarves had obviously redirected their style since Horror Stories. Gone is the subtle suggestiveness of that album, replaced by explicit exploitation and genuinely disgusting humor. Of course, most won't find the Dwarves very humorous: it takes a sick mind to appreciate the Dwarves' celebration of statutory rape on 'Let's Fuck' or vocalist Blag Jesus anger at a girl afraid of AIDS on 'SFVD'. Thirteen songs full of general punk sloppiness and distortion performed in 14 minutes

Damon Wild and David Sumner (aka Function's) relationship dates back to 1991 at Lord Michael's Future Shock, Limelight, New York City - when Damon was running EXperimental Records via Northcott Productions. At the time, he first saw something in Dave and added him to Brand X, a record pool run by Moneypenny. But their bond is based around a period 5 years later when Dave had an apartment above Rogue Music at 251 West 30th Street in Midtown, Manhattan. It was during this time Damon developed him as a Synewave artist and released his first EP as Function in the Fall of 1996 - catalog number: SW-24. Falling in and out of touch over the years, across continents, the two have somehow remained on the same cosmic path. So it's not a coincidence that now Damon has turned to Dave to release his first album in 13 years, during the time he is reissuing that first "Synewave EP" on "Recompiled I/II & II/II" (A-TON LP02/03). This is where those paths cross again... 21 years later, this Fall, Dave will release "Cosmic Path" on Infrastructure. The cosmic connection

Excellent high impact techno from Amsterdam, where Italian producer Francesco Rosati found his home. After releases on labels like Absolute, Sungate and Voltage, the 'Encounter' EP is his debut release for the NOWHERE series on Something Happening, Somewhere (SoHaSo). Rosati calls his new EP a statement to his stylistic musical output. He uses a hybrid setup of vintage analog machines and digital devices. For Encounter he wanted to grab the spirit of the moment. All five tracks were recorded directly in a single take, capturing pure energy. It is probably the most pure techno release SoHaSo has done in a while. Opener Stabber alone is pure energy, with its rolling Reese-like baselines, mesmerizing hi-hats and hypnotizing loops. The whole EP is a respectful nod to Detroit masters like Robert Hood and Jeff Mills while it also winks back to the menacing UK techno sound of the 90s. Or like Rosati says on his Soundcloud: "Future is the door - past is the key."

Originally released on Greensleeves in 1990 to glowing reviews "Blowing With The Wind" went on to be Pablo's most successful album since the seventies. The mix of nyahbinghi drumming (e.g. "Drums To The King" in a 7.03 minutes recording with acoustic guitar by Earl "Chinna" Smith) and hardcore steppers was embraced big time by the new age sound-system culture bringing the artist's far east sound to a whole new audience. A successful tour of Japan followed where Augustus Pablo showcased "Blowing With The Wind" with a selection of his original rockers. Recorded at Tuff Gong & Dynamic Sounds and mixed at Tuff Gong & Music Works studios, engineered by Soljje Hamilton, Chunny (aka Oswald Palmer), Sylvan Morris and Tony Kelly

The Legendary Shack Shakers hell-for-leather roadshow has earned quite a name for itself with its unique brand of Southern Gothic that is all-at-once irreverent, revisionist, dangerous, and fun. Led by their charismatic, rail-thin frontman and blues-harpist JD Wilkes, the Shack Shakers are a four-man wrecking crew from the South whose explosive interpretations of the blues, punk, rock and country have made fans, critics and legions of potential converts into true believers. Originally released in 2003 as a CD on Bloodshot Rec., «Cockadoodledon't» features the classic second lineup with Joe Buck (Yourself) on guitar, banjo, key accordion, upright bass and drums along with Mark Robertson on upright bass and Paul Simmons on drums

The Berghain and Khidi resident develops his sound further into the dancefloor and techno sphere while still maintaining his signature post-punk influence. The innovative techno producer and DJ combines his spectrum of dystopian, gritty, industrial electronics with his deep understanding of synthesis and sound design. This sonic approach is all the more exemplified in Rose's remix of 'Desecrating Vows'. The release finds Payne taking his productions to new levels by including different musical elements such as breakbeats, arpeggiations, and massively layered chordal sequences. Reflecting the last year when he produced it in Berlin, injecting all broken hearted emotions from then, each track contains more groove and nuance while having dense, shoegaze-like atmosphere and melodies. Even containing distant voice and guitar elements, 'Nailed To The Net' maintains his trademark balance between the dancefloor and his eclectic influences

Throughout the four tracks, Disario showcases what he does so well as a producer: groovy, funky techno that will always find its home in a proper underground techno setting. The EP starts off with "Under The Rug", an hypnotic masterpiece that sucks listeners in and takes them deeper and deeper as the track's intensity builds and reaches its peak. "Walking Through Trees" is next, picking up the tempo with an added groove carrying the track throughout... a real dance floor mover. The pace continues with "The Marathon", a percussion-driven stomper characterized by well-crafted peaks and valleys permeated by distorted eerie vocals. To conclude the EP, "Lights Down Under" showcases Disario's other signature techno soundscape. Here he takes the funk route, using an 808 clap and eerie howl broken by hard to discern and yet catchy vocals to great results. Produced by Stephen Disario. Mastered by Hardgroove Mastering. The gifted Puerto Rican-American drummer and percussionist Willie Bobo was one of the architects of Latin Jazz. Following mentorship from Machito and Mongo Santamaria, Bobo played with Tito Puente, Cal Tjader, and Herbie Mann, before going solo. Bobo's Beat is a sure-fire winner from 1962 with excellent support from trumpeter Clark Terry, saxophonist Joe Farrell and keyboardist Frank Anderson, a fully three-dimensional set with fine jazz nuances. It shows that Bobo never accepted less than the best from his counterparts, and there are some bossa nova covers mixed in with the driving Latin originals too. An essential work!

 REPRESS  The Dark Entries Italo drop continues with Garland's ?Heartbeat?. Like the Alex Molo reissue, this is another 1986 dancefloor bomb produced by Claudio Corradini along with Massimo Filippi. Art D?co singer and songwriter Claudio Valenti conceived of Garland as an outlet for his more dancefloor-oriented material. Inspired by Valenti's time spent in London seeing Steve Strange (of New Romantic group Visage) DJ at Heaven, ?Heartbeat? is an epic Italo number with a heavy New Wave stamp. D?? vu comes over the listener with melodies evoking Debarge and Bronski Beat, but this passes when the fist-pumping, sing-along-worthy chorus hits. Both the ?Song Version? and the ?Dance Version? are included on this reissue, with the latter featuring an extended intro and stripped down arrangement. ?Heartbeat? was remastered by George Horn. The record is housed in a reproduction of the original sleeve and comes on pink vinyl. Also included is a postcard with lyrics, liner notes, and a photograph. This reissue is dedicated to Claudio Corradini, who sadly passed away in 2021

REPRESS Pictured Disc Remastered Limited

A1 > out of time	Re-release of the iconic 'Screen Series': Yellow Screen. Limited Edition Picture Disc. Remastered. Yellow Screen: Originally released on November 19, 1999. It was the starting point of a beautiful musical adventure between Mr Sam & Fred Baker. This first E.P. is composed of 3 tracks : A side : Out Of Time / B1 : Greatest Hope / B2 : Inside My Soul. For the story, Inside My Soul was composed first, we were looking for each other musically speaking. The result is a very good track rather clubby in its atmosphere. Great classic of the Bush after party and still played nowadays. Then came Greatest Hope, faster bpm with a techno groove a la "Underworld" with a break where the beautiful strings form a stunning contrast. In the end this track is a perfect example of the versatility we had in the studio. Finally, the pearl of the E.P. and the stumbling block of the rest of the series, in a way the founding stone of our touch, our so atypical style, in other words our signature. As you may know by now, the main inspiration for this now legendary track came from Sasha "Belfunk". Mr. Sam used to play it a lot at the Bush every week as a DJ and absolutely wanted to do the « Belgian version » of Belfunk. This Sasha record really served as a template like a recipe. From memory the record was produced from start to finish in one afternoon take. It was immediately tested at La Bush in the following days and nothing was changed afterwards. For your information, the entire series was composed in Tournai (Belgium) not far from La Bush Club. It is important to know that all the music that was composed for the series, was done with the intention that it be played at La Bush. The atmosphere of the club and the music was without a doubt the main source of our inspiration

PIANO / CLASSICAL / JAZZ	Release: 03 - March - 2023	BEL
Yellow Vinyl Gatefold

A1 > all arms on deck!	LP on yellow vinyl in gatefold sleeve. Belgian-Japanese piano wizard Alex Koo seemed destined for a career as a classical concert pianist, but in his teens, he became completely enamored with jazz. Driven by his passion, he moved to New York, where he studied and taught at the renowned NYU Steinhardt. There he came into contact with jazz greats Mark Turner and Ralph Alessi, with whom he released the album "Applebueseagreen" in 2019, which was promptly included in the prestigious list of "Best Albums of 2019" by the legendary Downbeat Jazz Magazine with the words "Stunningly original". Domestically, too, one blazing review upon another: "Belgium is too small for pianist Alex Koo" or "We are stunned", we read in national newspapers De Tijd and Le Soir. With his brand new Etudes for Piano, composed for and commissioned by BoZar Brussels, he shows how his passion for both worlds - jazz and classical - merge perfectly. Adventurism and virtuosity go hand in hand with melancholy and elbow work (literally, for those who really know Koo knows). His music sounds like a marriage between Debussy, Chopin, Reich, Rachmaninov on the one hand and Keith Jarrett, Craig Taborn, Brian Eno and Philip Glass on the other. Alex Koo is a conjuring natural born storyteller on piano

A1 > neurohumoral transmission	2023 repress - It's always a huge pleasure to have him back. Lewis Fautzi's astronomic ascension is well known and we are delighted that he decided to 'play home' one more time. Although the years are passing by, Lewis is faithful to his principles. His personal style is almost a trademark and impossible not to recognize. Techno scene has evolved and he has evolved with it but always in a straight line, adapting himself perfectly to the new tendencies and keeping his touch and his vision. This new ep is full of trippy pads and powerful bass lines. Mesmerizing techno as its finest and with a small cherry on top of the cake: a remix by Rodhad. His first time with us and there is no greater feeling, specially knowing the huge artist he is. Established nowadays as a techno force, the german producer combines the hypnotic with different theatrical approaches and came a long way demonstrating the uncontainable nature of his brand of shadowy dance creations, as someone once described his work. We couldn't be happier with the result. In summary, the first ep by Lewis Fautzi on his own imprint with a remix by Rodhad. Lewis, welcome back home!! And thank you for bringing such an illustrious guest

MCR-T* B2 > digital requiem	After an interminable wait due to the vinyl manufacture crisis, Mercury 200 is back stronger than ever, supplying some homegrown material that is conceivably as potent as GOTG001. This time they teamed up with 2 legendary OG's, Apoc Krysiss & MCR-T, to spice up your musical experience and bring you the best of the two worlds. Dealing at the intersection of breakbeat, Ghetto tech and trance, this record will definitely catch your attention. Parental Advisory Explicit Content. Legally available only on prescription. For the first track of the vinyl, they teamed up with the Atlanta based rapper Apoc Krysiss to blend two opposite genres in a Memphis rap infused techno banger. This unique collaboration put on the table what's the best side has the best to offer: powerful and lethal flow. This track is here to pick you up and put you back on your feet after a breakup. When nobody's there for you, this track is. Full of fast and filthy grooves "Caramelo" is the track that will make you sweat. A heavy stomping beat with devilish vocals ready to make your ghetto inner self dance. Heavy grooves and a powerful bassline this track will slap you into consciousness. 100% Floor impact guaranteed. On the flip side we start with an outstanding collaboration with Berlin most notorious player in the ghetto house-techno scene: MCR-T. An uplifting, instant serotonin booster. Building up the tension at the start with a breakbeat and OG (original gangsta) lyrics, the tracks eventually turns into four to the floor house infused groove. Party killer guaranteed! Last track but not the least consists in a classic mercury 200 signature breakbeat track. A fine blend of trancy and infectious melodies with a short rap hook and chest punching drums

The scorching heat made our throat parched and weak; yearning to quench our thirst, we immersed ourselves into the waters without any hesitation, drowning our dryness and our exhausted limbs. I pointed my face, revived by water, towards the sky and I lingered on, admiring it: a flock of birds gently floated, drawing in the sky some abstract shapes. I sat beneath a palm tree, motionlessly admiring the show, the shades of the night approaching. The true joy of a moonlit night is something we no longer understand. Only the men of old, when there were no lights, could understand the true joy of a moonlit night.

A1 > warehouse memories	2023 repress - Based in the industrial harbour of Rotterdam, the fresh started 'Self Reflektion' techno imprint presents its first release. The person responsible for starting the label is stranger, who also goes by the not-so-mysterious name of Mitchel Polderman in daily life. His debut release 'Warehouse Memoires' reflects his passion and interest for the 90's warehouse rave sound in various ways, all produced while living in a Warehouse down the docks of Rotterdam. Featured on the release are the original mix, a recording which can be marked as a 2014 warehouse techno track. The 'UK Rave mix' probably speaks for itself, breakbeat influenced techno, 90's UK warehouse material. The US Revival mix takes you from Chicago to New York in 4 minutes, and closing off the release is the Bergweg mix - an additional DJ Tool for the Hoover freaks

 REPRESS Yellow Marbled Vinyl Label Sleeve Limited
A1 > the arcane	Limited Edition Repress - Marbled 12" in Spatial Sleeve. Kicking off the release in style, ASC serves up a thunderous atmospheric amen break assault with The Arcane. A calming intro with clean breaks and swirling fx, welcome eerie keys before heavy kicks thrust the track into life with crisp weighty amens snatching your attention. The undertone bass complements the break work perfectly, and the atmosphere gradually ratchets up over a subtle backdrop of effects and pads. A true aural statement. Dreamy synth-work, lush pads and an understated bassline punctuate State Of Mind, before the apache takes centre stage amidst mournful melodies and echoed snares, setting an unforgettably melancholic tone. A subtle but bliss love-letter to yesteryear. An impeccable, ever-building composition up next, as stabbing breaks and synths introduce Force Majeure. A moody bassline sets the tone, before 'whooshing' soundscapes flood the senses. Myriads of elements are frequently added into the mix, as the atmosphere envelops relentlessly throughout, resulting in a production masterclass. Closing the EP is the cleverly titled Threeform. A chilled-out treat dialling back the intensity with a luscious calming vibe over freestyle 3/4 time signature jazz breaks. Infused with relaxing brass samples and laidback approach, ASC provides yet another example of his production skills. Words by Chris Hayes (Spatial / Red Mist)

A1 > climate exchange	The Analogue Cops' "Ziguli" E.P. for Vitamina is an earthshaking four trackers dancefloor banger which melts old-school roughness and cutting-edge spectral enhancement. "Climate Exchange" and "Take your vitamina" wisely blend Chicago fuelled drums with ballistic delays, toward a frantic peak-time climax. "Passage to the door" and "The green door" instill romantic acid madness from emerging minimalistic tight rhythms incautiously driving to a late-night daydream

A1 > aquatica Donato Dozzy	2023 repress - Kicking off a new concept for Palinoia, I'm presenting a previously unreleased Donato Dozzy track that I first heard in his infamous "DDKH" mix from many moons ago. I regularly harassed Dozzy about this in hopes he had plans for it, but after almost a decade of being questioned he told me to just put it out myself, provided I was doing a track for the B-side. Knowing full well I couldn't make anything nearly as gorgeous as Donato's underwater techno groover here, I decided to go for something a bit more upbeat and party friendly, all the while as wiggly as the masters' contribution
