Another little gem rescued. U.X.A (acronym for United Experiments Of America) were an essential part of the PoshBoy West Coast punk revolutionary army. Led by the interesting and uncommonvocals of De De Troit, U.X.A. contributed to establishing female vocal punk bands (Avengers, X) in the genre and also gave the typical pop punk sound a chance toexpand the visual of new rock

A1 > sem ver o luar	First ever reissue of this super hard to find self-released Brazilian garage-beat 7" from 1965. Still very unknown even among hardcore collectors of the genre. The band would later become Loyce e os Gnomos, a cult band featured on the compilation Brazilian Guitar Fuzz Bananas. An amazing example of genuine teenage garage rock from 60s Brazil. The reissue includes an insert with liner notes and a previously unseen photo of the band. This release is a collaboration between Discos Nada, Fafado and Munster Records

A1 > shitty oven	We first fell in love with Antwerp's BRORLAB with an urgently abrasive EP which ranked amongst our faves of 2020. Fast forward to 2023 and they are back with a totally out of control 12" of modern fuckwave. The A side is seven new songs of their trademark dadaist electronic punk, full of fuzz guitars and sharp nasty beats, with a vocalist that fits perfectly the Honey Bane - Chitose vocal range and smart attitude. The B side brings bang back to life the 8 tracks from their criminally obscure debut EP, which will make any lover of ear-damaging noise smile with pleasure. All in all an aberrant slice of psychedelic gabber infused punk for the end of time

A1 > from us to you	The Beatles' final From Us To You special was recorded at the BBC Paris Studio on July 17th and broadcast on August 3rd, 1964. The nineteen-minute set they played was only a little shorter than their standard on the road live set during 1964. This 33rpm EP contains eight of the ten songs transmitted and offers a fascinating comparison with George Martin's EMI productions. The arrangements are almost identical but on this recording, you can hear the individual guitars much more prominently than on the released versions

The A side has a distinct boogie feel, starting slow with a George Kerr produced cut from 1984 followed by a Brit Funk-esq instrumental from Harold Melvin & the Blue Notes originally released on the Philly World label (home to 'Voice of Q'). The B side closes with the 'Sweeter' instrumental mix of Boogie bomb 'Loving Sweet Devotion' by Idiater Edwards. The B side opens with 'H2S04' from Mad Professor that defies categorisation, sitting somewhere between Electro, Disco and Dub. Last but by no means least there's an uptempo Dub mix of Original Rockers 'Push Push' making its first appearance on Vinyl having only been on the CD single release first time around

A1 > rumble the funk

B2 > rumble the funk Blasha Allatt rmx

A bass rumble seems to rearrange your organs like a spiritual doctor, fast techno kicks and a funky as hell percussion line emerge - it's the lucky 13th release on Lisbon's Para?so, this time by local mainstays Shcuro and Vil - the first, label co-founder, the second a longtime friend and impeccable DJ with a range that runs from dubstep to the hardest strains of techno and beyond. The opener track 'Rumble The Funk' evolves with infectious stabs and cut-up vocal and our legs can't seem to stand still. The groove continues on with the A2 'Recoil', a soulful, dubby, relentless ode to techno that feels authentic and purposeful. Emotional tones find their way in via a mysterious, melodic string, introduced in the breakdown. Dubbed out motifs, delay + feedback strokes make a welcome return on the appropriately titled 'Chime Dub' that opens the B side of the record: skippy rhythmic layers and a warm bassline complete the picture, string flourishes give us glimpses of radiant dancefloor revelations. On the B2 the duo's opener track gets the remix treatment by another exciting duo: Blasha & Allatt, who are the women behind the iconic queer techno raves Meat Free. They flip the original's melody into a rapid, dreamy affair, conveying an optimism that perfectly wraps up this solid record by continuing the celebration of collaborative work

Let's rewind back to 1990 and the early beginnings of the techno scene, forthcoming techno legend Damon Wild's descends upon Brooklyn, New York. Upon arrival Damon forges an alliance with Frankie Bones and Adam. He joins the team at Groove and ran the mail order department for their recently opened "Groove Records Shop". Quickly moving into music production, Damon presents a slew of releases under different aliases; building his name quickly on the still developing global techno circuit. Simultaneously, he activates the cult classic label "Experimental Records" which goes on to release many rising techno stars over the following years. In 1994 Damon launches Synewave Records, this time with a focus on a freshly innovative, stripped down jacking-hypnotic techno. The label goes on to play a big and memorable part in techno history, influencing the many generations to come. Fast forward to the present, Damon goes full circle to his beginnings with Sonic Groove (formerly the Groove Records Shop) and records a thought provocative, cutting edge album for his old friend and label owner Adam X. With an eye always focused on sound innovation, Damon's latest album "Pleasure Builder" is a masterpiece of sound design, expanding his take on a genre he helped create 30+ years ago, "Hypnotic, Groove Techno". This album is a must have for techno fans of all generations

A unique, personal collection that is both euphoric and melancholic, UK electronic artpop outfit Hot Chip provide the perfect antidote to these strange and uncertain times with the latest release in the hugely popular LateNightTales artist-curated series. Along with featuring new music from the band, they have selected music from some of the most engaging artists of the 21st century, taking in pulsating electronic rhythms, hypnotic grooves and leftfield ambience. Spearheaded by founders Alexis Taylor and Joe Goddard, Hot Chip are one of the UK's most interesting and much-loved acts. Since releasing their debut album 'Coming On Strong' in 2004, they have received a Grammy Award nomination ('Ready for the Floor') and Mercury Prize nomination ('The Warning') and their seventh studio album, last year's 'A Bath Full of Ecstasy,' received rave reviews across the globe from both critics and fans. Hot Chip's 'LateNightTales' opens with the simplistic beauty of Christina Vantzou's 'At Dawn,' before morphing in to the first of four exclusive tracks from the band - the floating, transcendent 'Nothing's Changed', before Rhythm & Sound ft. Cornell Campbell serve up the heavy dub classic, 'King In My Empire'. The journey continues with Pale Blue's 'Have You Passed Through This Night', a silky, cold wave disco track, while Suzanne Kraft's 'Femme Cosmic' and Fever Ray's 'To The Moon and Back' provide squelchy synth-pop. Furthermore, the punchy 'Much To Touch' from Bolton-born, Berlin based producer Planningtorock and an ethereal cover of Velvet Underground's 'Candy Says' by our hosts add an element of displacement and detachment. Elsewhere, other highlights include an appearance from synth-pop auteur Kaitlyn Aurelia Smith with 'Who I Am & Why I Am Where' and new material from Alexis' 'other' band, the improv-mavens About Group, along with the adventurous 'Workaround Two' from electronic experimentalist Beatrice Dillon and German composer, Nils Frahm's beautifully evocative 'Ode'. But it is left to Alexis' father to have the final word, with an elegant excerpt from the daring 'Finnegans Wake' by James Joyce. The LateNightTales series was established back in 2001 with Fila Brazillia taking to the controls and mixing up the first of what would continue to be the first choice of music connoisseurs worldwide. Since then, the series has seen releases from the likes of The Flaming Lips, Floating Points, David Holmes, Bonobo, Jon Hopkins, Röyksopp and many more

As the Album is sold out we now offer only the VERY LIMITED 12" DISCS of the album. Hungary is the fresh birthplace of so many top producers within the DnB scene. Mindscape, Matt-U, Chris.su, SKC... But this one producer has managed to produce so many killer tracks Citrus could not just leave it alone. This Producer is Jade. And his Venom LP is the result of his hard work. A deadly collection of productions that, once injected into the eardrum will grasp the host track by track until there isn't anything left! The final disc: Jade goes all solo style with Forged Reality. This shows how versatile Jade can be when he's alone in the studio. halfstep, rolling this one goes from the one to the next without any trouble. On the last one of the album he goes all out with Mindscape & Axiom! Heavy synthy basslines rip open the track just be pummed by the beat towering beats that make this tune a pounder beyond proportions!

Far Out Recordings proudly presents the new album from Brazilian guitarist and composer Fabiano do Nascimento: Mundo Solo. Recorded at his home studio in Los Angeles (2020) the album is fundamentally the sound of a man alone with his instruments. Utilizing a variety of guitars, including 6, 7 and 10 strings, Oktav guitar and electric baritone guitar, alongside a host of pedals and synthesizers, Fabiano tracked imagined landscapes with expressive, expansive improvisations, which tend toward the more ambient and atmospheric reaches of his recent output. Adopting Hermeto Pascoal's concept of Universal Music, a rejection of nationalistic tendencies in order to express all of one's musical influences all at once, Fabiano avoided leaning too heavily on any particular musical language, without denying his own musical roots. After studying classical piano as a child, the Rio de Janeiro native discovered the guitar aged 10. Studying under his late uncle, Lucio Nascimento, he eventually left Brazil for LA, where he soon became an in-demand player for his distinct and authentic sound. He has since released seven albums under his own name and collaborated with renowned Brazilian artists including Arthur Verocai and Airto Moreira, as well as experimental US saxophonist Sam Gendel. Mundo Solo (Do Nascimento's eighth), was recorded in one take per track, with occasional overdubs and a few appearances from collaborators and friends Julien Canthelm (drums on Etude 1), Ajurinã Zwarg, (percussion on CPMV) and Gabe Noel (Bass on Curumim). Fabiano Do Nascimento's consummate mastery of his instrument has afforded him a freedom of expression few can claim. Blending the emotional with the elemental, Mundo Solo is a stunning snapshot of solitude and the beauty which can blossom within it

Fokuz Recordings keeps on showing their talent hunting skills. Command Strange is a new producer hailing from Kazakhstan. The land that's normally known for Borat his stupid antics is now the foundation for Command Strange's inspiration. If you think that DnB cant manifest over there then your dead wrong.. Check out Vanilla Dream for a classic cut featuring some of the best Jazzy sounds you'll ever hear. No nerdy minimalism here just chilled out DnB how it should be, full of color and fresh! Once your done pulling yourself away from the A side its time to move on to side B for Joint. The title tells you in what kinda of mood you should be. Yes roll yourself a big one and just drift away on this classy cut. Joint features yet another palette of colors that have been long forgotten. DnB doesnt have to destroy the dancefloors over and over and over its all a matter of taste another legendary label once said. Well Fokuz can say... if you're not copping this... You dont have any.... Watch for alot more coming up from Command Strange cause Fokuz isnt done yet!

A1 > cowboy town	Following up on the very well received Studio Pressure EP we're back to hit you with release no.3 - more quality cuts from label boss Soul Intent. All three tracks skillfully mastered by DJ Hive at his Darkart Mastering studio in L.A.! Cowboy Tune has been around on dub for a while now but we feel this track deserves some long overdue limelight. Absolutely battered by the one and only Doc Scott, as well enjoying club and radio support from the likes of Loxy, Ruffhouse, Flight, C4C, and Marcus Intalex it's clearly only gaining in popularity. Dark and moody dubbed-out vibes alongside 'that' bassline!! Raggamuffin see's Soul Intent on a ragga tip. A rolling old skool break providing the rhythm track against dark and distorted bass stabs, and a weighty 40Hz sub workout. Raggamuffin has had more rewinds than it's creator can remember. A proper party tune!! Odyssey is Soul Intents 140BPM alias, with previous releases via Alley Cats 'Kokeshi' label. This Odyssey remix continues Alex's exploration into those deep, garage drenched vibes he so clearly has a passion for. Call it garage, future garage, bass music, whatever....we just call it good electronic music

From the creative brain who brought you 'Siren', 'Crazy Talk', 'Wait' & 'Saturn' comes a very special EP with the name quality written all over it. We're talking about Edward Berry aka 'Seven' this brilliant producer & dj knows how to work a dancefloor from all angles.. His Cerebral EP shows how diverse seven goes sound wise, from dark looming percussive beats to up-tempo jungle bashment and back again. This EP has it all.. Part 1 contains the epic title track 'Cerebral'.. this one has been a regular in sets from Youngsta from day dot.. The second you hear if you know who.. Eerie.. Dark.. And loads of subs.. This track will remind you a lot of Ed Rush & Optical in their Wormhole faze just taken back to the 140 bpm range. Side B features 'Memory Loss' a bulldozer like roller that packs a punch like Mike Tyson. A tune that embodies Seven's sound like no other.. No joking around and just straight pressure business.. Once this one kicks in you know it's time to get serious. Hold tight for part 2 of Seven's Cerebral EP which will feature Seven teaming up with some of his trusty friends

	Luigi Madonna's record label, Contempo welcomes a raw and hypnotic techno EP from Backbone. Backbone is a Portuguese producer who has been turning heads with his driving style of techno with trippy sounds and fast-paced rhythms. He has previously featured on labels such as Ed Davenport's Counterchange and Nastia's NECHTO Records. Contempo is a record label that Luigi Madonna has set up to express the underground side of his tastes, and along with his own music the imprint's catalogue also includes tracks and remixes by the likes of Alarico, Manuel Di Martino and Lobster. "Ceasefire" opens the release with its slamming percussion and modulating synth line, before "Twiddly Phases" takes control with hallucinogenic atmospherics that create ominous intensity. "Just a Sunny Day" is third on the release, and it's got a warped bassline layered with muffled vocals and a pounding kick drum. "Ciphred Realities" is a stripped-back track with eerie tension and fluttering melodies, then "Wanksta Yard" closes the release with breakbeat rhythms and a menacing bassline

A1 > sargasso "LM1"	After two years of consistently pushing cutting edge fresh talent on CD as well as in tandem with a series of well-received free digital releases. Absys Records are proud to present our very first vinyl release. Mastered to crisp perfection by LXC, this three-track vinyl continues to mine the deep, cutting edge atmospheric vein with an Eastern European twist that people have come to expect from us as a label, and with all the variety that has characterised our various CD compilation releases over the years. LM1 delivers a star turn here with A-side "Sargasso", as expansive and borderless as the sea from which it takes its name. Razor-sharp breakbeats, sub bass and dreamy pads all add up to a mature and considered slice of cutting edge Sci-Fi plastic. Deep enough for the bedroom but more than capable of working on a dancefloor this tune is certain to open a few doors for this hotly-tipped scottish producer. Dissident 's offering "Scarecrow" is as idiosyncratic as any other tunes by this most accomplished of russian producers, building a furiously cerebral groove with little other than hats, clicks, drones, cavernously delayed chords before utterly improbably unleashing some utterly raucous amens out of nowhere! Pigeonhole this, we DARE you! Rounding off the package is none other than Mr Sizef, who has had many an eye watching him since his previous work on Hospital's stellar "Future Sounds of Russia" collection. "Chocolate Evening, The Crimson Sea, Sweet Feeling, Only U" is as poetically expressive a collection of sounds as it's title would lead you to expect, it's deep pulsating halftime groove forms an undercarriage for all manner of crazily edited vocals and pads to swirl around, all combining to create a very special piece of music indeed. Support : Method One, Stunna, LTJ Bukem, Ant TC1, Paradox, ASC, Future Engineers, Indigo Sync, Loxy, Getz & Nuage, Elctrosoul System, Blu Mar Ten, Big Bud, Reza, Sho, Domel, Executive Steve and many more top producers and artists

Third vinyl for the Involve Records. The proper and modern view of techno signed by the Spanish Radio Transmission! 'Radio waves are a type of electromagnetic radiation with wavelengths in the electromagnetic spectrum longer than infrared light. Like all other electromagnetic waves, they travel at the speed of light. Naturally-occurring radio waves are made by lightning, or by astronomical objects. Artificially-generated radio waves are used for fixed and mobile radio communication, broadcasting, radar and other navigation systems, satellite communication, computer networks and innumerable other applications. Different frequencies of radio waves have different propagation characteristics in the Earth's atmosphere; long waves may cover a part of the Earth very consistently, shorter waves can reflect off the ionosphere and travel around the world, and much shorter wavelengths bend or reflect very little and travel on a line of sight.'

Analogical Force is kicking off 2024 with a stellar "all things Electronix" album from well known producer Vertical67 (who also runs the Vortex Traks label)! It's hard not to have heard of Thomas Pahl in the electro underwater depths after multiple appearances over the course of more than a decade and under a ton of aliases. With the illuminating title of 'Changes', Thomas gets rid of corsets and presents an entrancing voyage into post-euphoria, displaying a radiant and emotive side which the artist's new discordant sound emerges. A defiant cry in the face of existential angst. Navigating between breaks, dreamy melodies and reflective landscapes 'Changes' could be defined as a deep introspective journey into the machines. the Gamelatron is many things, one could claim a sculpture, a main modern installation, an instrument, a robot, a feat of engineering, a vision—and it is all of these things. More importantly, though, it is a concept sustained by Aaron Taylor Kuffner, aka Zemi17, whose Gamelatrons are “sound producing kinetic sculptures” designed to create an immersive, visceral experience for the listener. Not a small feat, and yet the ambitions of Zemi17 are absolutely realized in this long-standing project, culminating now in his third release for The Bunker NY: Gamelatron Bidadari. The Gamelatron Bidadari is not just a name—it is one of seventy-plus musical sculptures that Zemi17 has conceptualized, designed, and fabricated. Therefore, it would be inaccurate to think of this release as simply a series of arrangements composed in a finite period of time. Rather, it’s a window into a project and a process that is much larger than any single album can encapsulate. Gamelatron Bidadari is the culmination of more than a decade of work, and is central to Zemi17’s evolution, not only as a musician but as an artist. Having studied gamelan for many years in Indonesian villages and at the Institut Seni Indonesia in Yogyakarta, Kuffner is a musician, an artist, technologist, and craftsman. The gongs in his sculptures are co-created with master Indonesian artisans. Each Gamelatron composition is site-responsive, meaning its sounds are composed for the acoustics and intentions of the space it inhabits, whether it’s an art gallery, a wooded landscape, or the inner temple of Burning Man. The Gamelatron does not stand alone: it is in constant co-creation with its physical environment, and in dialogue with gamelan’s long-standing history. Originally exhibited at the Smithsonian Renwick as part of a show entitled, No Spectators: The Art of Burning Man, the Gamelatron Bidadari produces sounds that are delicate yet strong, and deeply hypnotic. Textured chiming creates intricate polyrhythmic patterns that are both complex and simple, or in a word, elegant. On Gamelatron Bidadari, Zemi17 refrains from adhering to the strict musical structures; his approach to composition is free flowing. He says, “I want to evoke what the music tells me it has to offer. It is like following water to its conclusion (or non-conclusion).” The arrangements on this album, written by Zemi17 and performed by the robotic arms of the Gamelatron, leaves the listener feeling enchanted, nourished and enriched. A sense of the mystical comes through in the tonal quality of the instrument, and is conceptually felt in the sculpture’s name: the Bidadari, which loosely translates to “forest nymph.” The music conjures up natural wonder, and the four sculptures that make up the Gamelatron Bidadari, in fact, resemble trees. They are four independent yet connected entities, each with a large gong situated at their structural base—the sonic “roots” of the sculpture—while smaller gongs branch off of a golden, trunk-like spine. The Gamelatron Bidadari is as physically stunning as it is mesmerizing to the ear. A kind of divinity is invoked through its sound, or a sacred cohesion between past and present, tradition and new form. Meant to be viscerally experienced, the sounds of the Gamelatron call for sublime togetherness. Gamelatron Bidadari is not just an album but the crystallization of Kuffner’s work: it is a condensed yet spacious glimpse into the sonic power of Zemi17’s

Makuto is the label head from Spain with a growing reputation and who has kept his productions exclusively to Arketip Discs so far. "Sfera" is a hypnotic and atmospheric cut with modular accents and tones that morph and expand in sleek style. A. Morgan is from Manchester, UK and has been establishing his productions with revered releases on the likes of Jay Clarke's Blackaxxon, Joton's New rhythmic, Hans Bouffmyhre's Sleaze and Berlin's BCCO. "Vogue One" has a stripped-back style and groove focused rhythm with creative sound design and precise percussion highlights. VIL is known as a core member of the Portuguese outfit HAYES, and has released music on Ben Klock's Klockworks, Ben Sims' Hardgroove, Shlomi Aber's Be As One, and TWR72's Float amongst others. "The Reaction" has a shuffling and quirky rhythm with deep, floating chords and electric elements creating a unique vibe. Also from Spain, Psyk is the Non Series label owner whose back catalogue includes Tresor, Luke Slater's Mote Evolver, Scuba's Hofflush, Reeko's Mental Disorder and Chris Liebings CLR to name only a few. Psyk's impressive remix of "The Reaction" succeeds in expanding distinct electric fragments from the original into a tapestry of organic, modular soundscapes. A1 > away feat. Marina P	As a busy international DJ, this was nothing short of armageddon for Vadim. The skies were darkened, but rather than sink into inactivity and hibernation, DJ Vadim created within himself his own tropical music festival, an alternative universe that would share some kind of kinship with the recordings made at Compass Point Studios, orchestrated by Chris Blackwell for Grace Jones (1980-1982), James Brown, AC/DC, and many others... It was a melting pot of world-class musicians, blending reggae, pop, soul and African rhythms and sounds... together creating one of the most influential albums of the period, and it was in this spirit that the inspiration and title of DJ Vadim's new album, FEEL UP (literally 'Feel good' / 'Have the strength, the courage'), was born. Forty years after those sessions at Compass Point Studios, the same quest for discovery took place in Vadim's Barcelona studio. The desire for growth, self-discovery and the creation of new sounds took hold. The dubcatcher with its 80s digital sounds went out and came back with a wide variety of musical tapas. Inhale, exhale, FEEL UP is the soundtrack you've been missing without even knowing it!
